

Overview

Intake pipes are used in air circulation systems for turbo engines. Aluminum and plastic types are available.

Features

1. Available in aluminum or plastic
 - Ability to also mold plastic types enables us to offer lightweight versions
2. Available in a variety of configurations to meet our customers' needs
 - In-house-designed manufacturing and processing equipment enables us to rapidly respond to our customers' needs

Primary Applications

Air pipes for turbo engines